

CARDINAL HUME CATHOLIC SCHOOL

Gender Equality Policy 2015-18

“To develop each member of the school community so that everyone involved can reach their full potential in the light of the teaching of Christ and the values portrayed in the Gospels”

Gender Equality Policy

1. Vision, Values and Ethos

Cardinal Hume Catholic School is deeply committed to the principles of equality. The Gender Equality Policy complements our Equality Policy, this is gender specific. We have a caring and supportive school ethos that seeks to value all individuals and ensure that they achieve their potential. Our school is active in its role in promoting equality of opportunity for all boys and girls, men and women, who make up our school community.

Through our policies and practices we strive to eliminate gender discrimination and harassment that present barriers to both staff and pupils achieving their full potential. We actively promote positive, respectful attitudes and relationships between and amongst all members of our school community and encourage them to be active partners in the promotion of equality of opportunity in all aspects of school life.

We provide a broad and balanced curriculum in a happy, challenging environment where all boys and girls can develop their maximum potential and feel valued as individuals who can contribute to the life of our school and society in general.

We have robust and supportive policies in place that are underpinned by our Catholic ethos which ensures that our practices actively promote equality of opportunity amongst staff and do not in any way discriminate against either men or women in any area of recruitment, retention, promotion, training or any aspect of employment.

We are committed towards ensuring that the development, implementation and monitoring of our gender equality scheme is the vehicle for actively embedding gender equality within our policies and practices.

2. The Legal Context

The Equality Act was introduced in 2010 to ensure fair and equal treatment and the elimination of discriminatory practice for all. In recognition of the significant contribution public authorities can make towards equality for all, a gender equality duty (GED) was established within the Act and came into force in April 2007. It requires schools to be proactive in eliminating unlawful sex discrimination and harassment and promoting equality of opportunity between men and women.

The specific duty requires a school to show how it will meet the general duty to promote equality across all its areas of responsibility and the exact steps a school will take to enable it to meet the general duty.

- Prepare, publish and review a gender equality scheme
- consider the need to include objectives including pay award objectives
- gather and use information on how school policies and practices affect gender equality in the workforce and delivery of services

Gender Equality Duty Scheme

- consult stakeholders and take account of relevant information in order to determine its gender equality objectives

- assess the impact (gender impact assessment) of its current and proposed policies and practices
- implement the actions set out in its scheme (action plan) within three years
- report annually against the scheme
- review the scheme every three years

3. Developing, monitoring and reporting of our Gender Equality Scheme

Pupils, staff, parents/carers were consulted through a variety of means in the development of our gender equality scheme. We have done this via questionnaires, meetings, informal discussions and incorporated their views where appropriate.

By consultation and data analysis we intend to continually monitor our gender Policy objectives that relate the most significant gender issues in our school that we intend to tackle by 2018. We will consider how our objectives support standards of achievement and are clear on what actions we need to take in order to improve further. We have integrated the processes for developing our scheme into those for school self-evaluation and school development plan.

The Pastoral link governor will ensure that when monitoring gender equality, the implementation of all current and future school policies, will take into consideration gender equality issues being adhered to.

The Deputy Head Pastoral will be responsible for ensuring that it is monitored to ensure it leads to less discrimination and greater gender equality.

4. Gender Equality Scheme Checklist

Service Provision

- Information is collected on gender with regards to both pupils and staff and is used to eliminate discrimination and improve provision of services
- Achievement and attainment data is analysed by gender and action is taken to narrow the gender gap as appropriate to boys and girls
- Boys and girls are actively encouraged to participate in all aspects of school life eg assemblies, school council, physical activities, and where there are barriers to this occurring, action is taken to reduce them to maximise inclusion for all
- Bullying and harassment of pupils on the grounds of gender are monitored and action is taken to eliminate such practice
- Health education provision has been reviewed (including sex education, physical activity and healthy eating) and improvements made to ensure further gender equality
- Stereotyping in terms of gender is actively challenged within and outside of the classroom including challenging gender stereotypes in subject choice and careers advice
- The school environment is accessible and welcoming to all visitors regardless of gender.
- The governing body is representative of the pupils, staff and local community it serves

Employer Duties

- Gender issues are carefully considered when appointing staff eg when allocating Teaching and Learning Responsibilities or re-evaluating staff structures, to ensure decisions are free of discrimination
- Processes for the implementation of pay systems ensure there is no negative impact on gender equality
- Any bullying and harassment of staff on the grounds of gender would be monitored and action is taken to eliminate such practice

We have reviewed our practices as employers in relation to the following list of key employment issues (as outlined by the Equal Opportunities Commission Code of Practice on the duty) and are confident that our policies and practices do not discriminate against any members of staff in the following areas

- recruitment
- managing flexible and part-time working
- managing parental and carers leave
- managing pregnancy and return from maternity leave
- sexual and sexist harassment
- transgender and transexual staff
- women under represented in eg senior posts
- grievance and disciplinary procedures
- equal pay
- work based training opportunities
