WELCOME FROM THE DIRECTOR OF ETHOS

Dear All,

We are delighted to present to you the eighth volume in our school newsletter, the 'Cardinal's Virtues.'

We do hope that you enjoy it as much as previous editions and that the hard work that has gone on behind the scenes, by people too numerous to mention, has produced a newsletter equal to past endeavours. It is also our dearest hope that this Eastertide finds you all truly blessed in the spiritual awakening revealed to us all in the person of Jesus Christ.

We hope that this special Church Year of the Extraordinary Jubilee of Mercy, encourages all members of our school and deanery community to understand the importance of treating every person we encounter as all part of God's creation. We ask that God blesses us all as we seek to be more merciful in our relationships with each other and especially with those we may struggle with.

The aim of our newsletter, as always, is to highlight to you the parents, guardians and parishioners, all the great work that is being undertaken at Cardinal Hume Catholic School. Student success can never be limited to the academic, though we are fully aware of its importance, but at Cardinal Hume Catholic School we believe the development of the whole person and their unique talents is of equal importance. An outstanding school community allows students to flourish and develop in a number of ways and it is this approach to education we seek to nurture at Cardinal Hume Catholic School. Indeed it is this approach we hope is reflected in every page of the 'Cardinal's Virtues.'

We hope you enjoy reading this eighth volume of our newsletter and would like to thank you all for your great support and prayers, which play such a great role in our success in spreading the gospel message to our young people.

If you feel you would like to contribute to the 'Cardinal's Virtues' in any way, please do not hesitate to contact, Director of Ethos: Damian McCann at dmn@cardinalhume.com or the Chaplain Mrs Proctor by phoning the school.

SCHOOL YEAR OF MERCY PRAYER

Dear Lord,

During this Year of Mercy, help us to be more merciful, compassionate and caring to our neighbours.

Help us, as part of the Cardinal Hume Catholic School community, to become beacons of mercy to everyone we meet both in and out of school.

Help us to be more understanding of others, especially when we find it hard to be kind to them.

Help us to follow the words of Jesus in the Gospel when He said:

"Blessed are the merciful, for they will be shown mercy."

Amen

[Cardinal Hume Justice and Peace Group]

BROTHERS AND SISTERS IN FAITH

POSSIBLY THE GREATEST TRAGEDY IN THE HISTORY OF RELIGION HAS BEEN OUR HUMAN WISH TO BELIEVE THAT OUR OWN PERSONAL TRADITION IS THE CORRECT VERSION AND EVERYBODY ELSE IS WRONG. IT IS ONLY OUR OWN PARTICULAR FAITH GROUP, WHO IF THEY HAVE LIVED A GOOD LIFE, CAN ACHIEVE SALVATION. EVERYBODY ELSE IS WRONG. THIS THINKING HAS AT BEST BUILT WALLS OF INTOLERANCE AND AT WORST LED TO CRUSADES AND GENOCIDE. IT WAS WITH THIS THINKING PARTICULARLY IN MIND THAT LED THE VATICAN II COUNCIL TO DECLARE NOSTRA AETATE (IN OUR TIME) THE DECLARATION ON THE RELATION OF THE CHURCH WITH NON-CHRISTIAN RELIGIONS.

A hugely important document that seeks to bring a unity amongst all faith traditions. A focus on what we have in common as people of faith, not what we differ on. Something that seeks to promote peace and love not hate and violence. The Declaration begins by highlighting the unity that exists in all people, we are all God's creations and so ultimately will return to God. It brings to attention some of the great philosophical questioning regarding the human condition evident in the Hindu and Buddhist traditions. It notes the willingness of the Catholic Church to accept truths present in other religions in so much as they share common ground with and reflect Catholic teaching.

The document describes how the Catholic Church regards Muslims with esteem and mentions areas that Islam has in common with Christianity and Catholicism: worship of One God, the Creator of Heaven and Earth, Merciful and Omnipotent; the Muslims' respect for Abraham and Mary and the great respect they have for Jesus, whom they consider to be a Prophet and not God. The Declaration urges Catholics and Muslims to forget the hostilities and differences of the past and to work together for mutual understanding and benefit.

The relationship with the Jewish is described as a special bond between people of the 'New Covenant' (Christians) and Abraham's stock (Jews). To in any way blame the Jews for the death of Jesus is wrong and to make any link between Jews present at that time and those in our present time is an error. All forms of anti-Semitism made by anyone are unacceptable as the Jews have a special covenant with God and so share a special relationship with all Christians.

With this in mind it was wonderful to witness the continuing breaking down of walls of fear and intolerance when Pope Francis on his visit to Rome's great synagogue on January 17th mentioned that the Church recognises God's "irrevocable" covenant with Israel along with the unique relationship between Christians and Jews. This new relationship between the two great faiths has radically changed over the last 50 years following Vatican II's declaration Nostra Aetate, which condemned all forms of anti-Semitism. In the words of Pope Francis "You are our elder brothers and sisters in the faith. Indeed, we all belong to one family of God, who accompanies and protects us, his people. From enemies and strangers we have become brothers and sisters." With Nostra Aetate and the Pope's words we have a change in thought and ability to reason that moves beyond a purely Christian understanding of the world. Something that should be applauded as a mechanism that seeks to establish a future of peace and understanding between all faiths.

However, thinking beyond a Christian understanding of the world is not new to the Catholic Church. We have many examples of hands of reconciliation being stretched out. One that particularly sticks out is the time St Francis met with the Sultan of Egypt Malik al-Kamil trying to stop the bloody onslaught of the disastrous fifth crusade in 1219, his intention being to convert the Sultan to Christianity. A meeting at time when Christians and Muslims viewed each other with hate and suspicion says as much about the Sultan as it does of St Francis. It was the deep rooted faith belief of both men that enabled the meeting to take place. Although St Francis was unsuccessful, he came away from the peaceful encounter with revolutionary ideas that called for Christians to live harmoniously with Muslims.

We live in a time when, according to some polls, it is more likely that a person would say they have no religion rather than adhere to a religion at all. People seem to want to create a moral code that fits them. In many cases, that something doesn't challenge and is not directed at them from an external source such as religion. The danger of this of course, is that a moral understanding of the world is created in the absence of God or religion, the advent of the moral compass of the individual. Some may rejoice at such an idea but in doing so are failing to understand the great truth that lies at the heart of all our faith traditions. To subtract a relationship with God from any moral understanding of our world is a destructive concept in a negative sense.

As in line with the teaching of St Thomas Aquinas in his Natural Law Theology, all faiths can identify natural law in the world around them which leads to a relationship with God. For Catholics, the way is clearly sign posted in the Incarnation of Jesus Christ as God, but as in line with the teaching in Nostre Aetate, this is not done in a way that seeks to exclude others, but rather to find the common ground that wishes to include us all in a peaceful and loving relationship with each other and God.

It is this belief which lies at the heart of our Catholic school. At Cardinal Hume Catholic School we provide clear teaching from a faith perspective but in a way that includes all staff and students. Whether some have a different faith or no faith at all, there is an understanding that we are all in the same boat. We are all journeying through this life together as God's creations and will be unified with God one day. We encourage each other to be the best people we can be through academic achievement and promotion of the common good. In this aspect of our lives we are truly all brothers and sisters in faith.

LENT IN THE YEAR OF MERCY

Lent is sometimes forgotten as a period of self-reflection and sacrifice that seeks to develop the fullness of us all in the light of God's mercy and forgiveness.

It calls us to stop and think in an extremely fast modern society and to ask questions such as: Am I the person I would like to be? How can I improve who I am? Questions which we rest in God's mercy and forgiveness.

Lent is highlighted as an important time in school life. We have a number of different events going on which seek to raise an understanding of the significance of what Lent is through such simple things as 'Purple Friday'. This is a time that staff are asked to wear purple on Fridays during Lent and students are asked to question staff as to why they are wearing purple garments. In addition, the great idea of classroom doors being set up as 'Doors of Mercy' seeks to ground young people in the message of the importance of mercy and forgiveness.

Our student Justice and Peace Group have come up with a chart that track the days of Lent and on each day students are asked to do something like pray; smile, be kind, give up something, do something positive and so on. A simple and effective way of encouraging all students at Cardinal Hume Catholic School to step into a Lenten journey.

Fundraising is always a key point in raising money to help the less fortunate and a key component in the corporal works of mercy. Events such as the talent show, the school fair and student ideas for fundraising, unite as we seek to help students understand the significance, depth and lifelong importance of the Parable of the Sheep and Goats.

THE PATH OF INCLUSIVITY

In removing restrictions on women taking part in the feet washing ceremony during the Holy Thursday Liturgy, Pope Francis has called for an 'opening of heart' from Christians who obstinately maintain 'It's always been done that way.'

The event commemorates Jesus washing the feet of his disciples before the Last Supper. The great act of the servant leader. This is not a new thing in the Church however, though some believe it is going against tradition.

Hundreds of years before the current emphasis by Pope Pius XII in 1955 on only men being able to take part, women had been included.

The joy that lies in this act by Pope Francis is the greater visibility that women receive by being able to participate in such acts of worship. Women do great work that, for those not aware, may go unnoticed, such as parish organisers, catechists and teachers.

Our Pope Francis continues to bring the great example of servant leadership to the only place that it can truly grow, into the hearts and minds of the faithful along with the curious.

YOUTH FRIDAY WITH YMT

Year 8 students from Cardinal Hume Catholic School were delighted to attend what was an outstanding Youth Friday celebration at St Mary's Cathedral in Newcastle Upon Tyne.

The celebration, linked to the Year of Mercy, was under the theme 'Love Undeserved' and was brilliantly organised by the wonderful Youth Ministry Team (YMT). The day began with an introduction by Father Dermott Donnelly (Dean of St Mary's Catholic Cathedral) and opening words from Bishop Seamus before the young people from YMT took over and took us all on a journey of drama (a wonderful version of the Good Samaritan) song and personal testimony from YMT members past, present and future.

The event was a great celebration of the work that the YMT do and have been doing over the last 25 years in the diocese. We look forward to the great work they will continue to do and wish the newly appointed Director of YMT, Tony Lawless, all the very best as he continues to promote the great work of YMT. Finally, a huge thank you from everyone in the Diocese to Father Dermott Donnelly the maestro who came up with the idea and wish him all the very best in all his new ventures in promoting the Good News.

ASH WEDNESDAY SERVICE

Students distribute ashes

On Wednesday, 10th February Cardinal Hume Catholic School held an Ash Wednesday Service to remind us all of the beginning of Lent.

There was a good turnout at the voluntary service and as a community we gathered to focus on our upcoming commitment to Lent. The service was brilliantly prepared by our school Chaplain Mrs Proctor and accompanied by the Head of Music Mr Potter. The service opened with a beautiful musical elegance that created a spiritual ambience for all to enjoy. Mrs Proctor then explained the story behind Ash Wednesday and Lent, explaining how Jesus spent 40 days in the desert without food or water as a test. We mirror that with today's Lenten commitments, in which most Catholics give something up for 40 days, such as chocolate or start doing something like daily prayer.

After Mrs Proctor gave her overview of Lent, staff and pupils went up to receive the Ashes, a marked sign on their forehead or their hands. This marked us out as pilgrims for the upcoming Lenten season and the challenges we are giving ourselves. We had two services with the one for older students, which was led by students, who also gave out the ashes. The services ended with some prayer and quiet reflection time before we entered back into daily school life with the Year of Mercy firmly in our mind.

THE GOOD SAMARITANS

The Good Samaritans

It is always wonderful to hear good news about students that attend Cardinal Hume Catholic School, but the greatest news to hear is when students do something that makes your heart swell with pride while not directly under school supervision. An act so unselfish and caring that it motivates others to go out of their way and contact the school to tell you how wonderful your pupils are. Indeed it raises your eyes heavenwards in thanks and hope.

It was such an act that took place on a recent freezing cold December evening. A group of our students had been playing football at Gateshead Stadium and afterwards decided to go and get something to eat. On their way to get a bite to eat, they had to pass through the skate park under the 5 bridges in Gateshead. While walking through the park they saw a man lying on the ground and thought best to avoid this person on a dark night. After a bite to eat, they returned through the skate park and saw the man lying on the ground in exactly the same position. This startled the boys as they thought something must be wrong with him, if on such a cold night he had not moved since the first time they had passed him.

The boys approached the man and found him to be unconscious. They then placed the man in the recovery position and phoned the ambulance. When the ambulance arrived, they guided it into the skate park and lifted the man onto the stretcher and pushed him up to the ambulance. The Paramedics were nothing less than astonished by the boy's actions explaining that without their caring nature and practical response the man would have died if left out in the cold for the night.

Such actions bring to mind the words of the great playwright Sean O'Casey when he stated "Every action of our lives touches on some cord that will vibrate in eternity." In the case of all the boys a truly wonderful vibration that reflects wonderfully on their families, school community and local community.

THE ADVENT OF THE YEAR OF MERCY

There was a real purpose of joy to the launching of the `Year of Mercy` at Cardinal Hume Catholic School during Advent. Our student Justice and Peace Group composed a Year of Mercy prayer and powerpoints for all our tutor groups as the whole school community focussed on our calling to be more merciful in all our relationships.

Part of the Advent fundraising celebration this year, along with all the other outstanding fundraising that goes on with all tutor groups thanks to our committed tutors and Chaplain, was the `Candy Cane Stall` the Justice and Peace group organised. The idea came from the deeply devout movie `Mean Girls` (I jest of course), but joking aside, there was a message given out through the stall that lies at the heart of what Pope Francis is asking of us all in this Year of Mercy.

The idea of doing things for others and seeking reconciliation. Students could not buy a candy cane for themselves but rather had to buy it for someone else as a gift. A positive message along with the candy cane was delivered by students to the delighted recipients on the last day of term. This was a lovely way for students to celebrate friendship or build bridges, with the importance of thinking of others to create joy, central to the task.

Along with this work our Chaplain, Mrs Proctor, brought our Year 7 students on a wonderful spiritual journey through a special Advent service. RE classes took a lesson to take this journey through a number of special prayer stations that reflected on good works, the importance of prayer, fulfilling our potential and the joy of the Incarnation. It was a privilege to sit with the young people as they took this journey. We now raise our eyes towards Easter. Below is our Year of Mercy school prayer:

Dear Lord,

During this Year of Mercy, help us to be more merciful, compassionate and caring to our neighbours.

Help us, as part of the Cardinal Hume Catholic School community, to become beacons of mercy to everyone we meet both in and out of school.

Help us to be more understanding of others, especially when we find it hard to be kind to them.

Help us to follow the words of Jesus in the Gospel when He said:

“Blessed are the merciful, for they will be shown mercy.”

Amen

THE INTERNATIONAL EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS

The International Eucharistic Congress (IEC) is held every four years and this year was held in Cebu, Philippines from the 24th-31st of January. It is the 51st International Congress, where people from all over the world are invited to participate in this pilgrimage and an hour of mass hosted by Archbishop Jose Palma of Cebu and other concerned committees that are prepared to promote this religious gathering about world problems that are occurring today. For example, malnutrition and starvation. The previous congress was held in the Knock Shrine, Co. Mayo, Ireland. The theme of this year's congress was "Christ in you, our hope of Glory". This event gathers the clergy to reflect the mystery of the Eucharist, it allows people to witness the presence of Jesus Christ and grow a better understanding of the liturgy in the life of the church.

During the seven days of the congress, it drew thousands of participants – including laity and Church leaders – from different parts of the world to celebrate the purpose of the church- to be part of an International community with a strong faith in God. Archbishop Jose expresses his gratitude to people who helped in the preparations of the IEC as well as those who attended: "We thank at this point the many people who certainly because of their prayers, because of their involvement, because of their generosity, because of their volunteerism, the preparation is practically done"

Anne Griffin, overall manager of the 50th IEC in Dublin, Ireland urged the Cebuano to be faithful in their efforts for the event. "There are a lot of things that will happen and this will be a big milestone in the history of Cebu, Philippines," she said. In addition, Cardinal Charles explains that "The IEC calls for a commitment to a world of justice." Although Pope Francis was not able to attend, he gave a book of Gospels as a gift to the Eucharistic Congress.

Overall, the Eucharistic Congress was a great success in creating awareness that, as a catholic family, we must promote justice through tackling the scourge of poverty. As many have witnessed, the IEC is a great support to the community in which it is held, where faith in God is what makes us part of a Universal family.

Central to all of this is the importance of the Eucharist itself summed up in the words of Pope Francis:

"The Eucharist speaks to us of that power, which flows from the Cross and constantly brings new life. It changes hearts. It enables us to be caring, to protect the poor and the vulnerable, and to be sensitive to the cry of our brothers and sisters in need. It teaches us to act with integrity and to reject the injustice and corruption which poison the roots of society."

PHILOSOPHY CONFERENCE AT CARDINAL HUME

Cardinal Hume Catholic School, courtesy of Head Teacher Nick Hurn, was delighted to host a GCSE Philosophy Conference for a second year led by the esteemed philosopher Dr Peter Vardy.

Vardy in action

The aim of the conference is to stretch students' learning in modes of higher thinking and give them an understanding of how to answer exam board questions in an A* way. From the start of the day, students were captured by Dr Vardy's fierce intelligence and clear thinking. One of his great abilities as a lecturer is linking philosophy to what is going on in the world today in a way that is both understandable and relevant in the lives of students. One way this worked particularly well was through identifying key themes from movies such as Harry Potter and illuminating the deeper philosophical nature of what first seemed just a movie clip. A particular highlight of the day was the parliamentary style debate in which 'the House' had to decide whether we have a moral obligation to provide genetic excellence for future generations. All students from Cardinal Hume Catholic School, St Robert of Newminster, St Wilfrid's, St Mary's Catholic Academy, Newcastle High School for Girls, Rye Hill and Durham High School for Girls took part in what was a highly stimulating debate with the motion being declined by 97%. The Bishop will be pleased to hear!

Probably the greatest service Dr Vardy gives to the world of Religious Studies is the message he brings in regards to the importance of the subject today. It, as a subject, underpins all modes of thought, political structure and religious belief that exist and have existed in the world. An A-level in Religious Studies is not only a subject that can help you on the path to studying Law, Medicine, Ethical Business, Teaching, Social Work and the Police, but has real value in helping us to understand our purpose on this world and what will truly make us happy. Now how to be truly happy, that really is worth finding out!

CARDINAL HUME CATHOLIC SCHOOL SCHOOL APP LAUNCHED

At Cardinal Hume Catholic School we take pride in always seeking new ways in which to communicate with our school and local community. Our latest venture is the launch of our new school app which enables easy access to important and urgent updates about the school.

The new app enables access to a number of things such as: school news and letters, term and holiday dates, parish, deanery and diocesan events, our school achievements, the school brochure and much, much more. Downloading the app is very easy. Simply search for 'Cardinal Hume School' in your Apple or Google app store and remember to allow Push Notifications in order to receive updates instantly.

The new school app doesn't only inform parents of key dates but it is also ideal for pupils as it informs them of key examination dates, extracurricular activities and school uniform standards. It even gives information about our school library which could come in useful for English lessons, revision or the knowledge of having a quiet place to concentrate on homework. The student section of the app even includes a gallery of pictures where pupils can reflect upon memories they may have shared in school but also where parents get to see what their children have participated in and what it was like.

In addition to this, the app gives a chance for our school sixth formers to get involved. It gives a truthful insight into what our Sixth Form is like and what courses are available to students. It illustrates what a wonderful Sixth Form we have and why attending Sixth Form at Cardinal Hume Catholic School would be one of the best life choices a student could make.

Finally, we aim to provide an easy and useful resource that students and their parents can refer to for all the latest school updates in an easy way. As a Catholic school we want everyone to feel like a valued member and we believe the new school app is a way of supporting this idea. Don't take my words for it, try it and see!

HOST SUCCESS AT GATESHEAD SCHOOLS ROWING COMPETITION

Cardinal Hume Catholic School was delighted to host the Gateshead schools rowing championship again. The event focused on students from a number of year groups competing against each other in order to see who could cover the greatest distance over a specific time. The top 3 from each competition go onto the regional championship. Students from Cardinal Hume Catholic School were successful in a number of competitions: well done all. But most importantly, congratulations to all students from all schools who took part in anyway.

- Year 7 Kennedy Icteton was 2nd overall.
- Year 8 Nikola Borowska 2nd overall.
- Year 9 Megan Turner 1st; she has done fantastically well since joining Chester-le-street Rowing club.
- Year 9 Cassie Battour 2nd another great result for the school.
